"Hi. My name is _____. I try to help people with problems with their blood. To do this I need to take some blood from your arm. We will use a small needle to get some blood from your vein. The nurses and I will try to keep it from hurting, but it may hurt a little bit anyway. It should not take very long to do this test. Is this okay?"

"I need to take a small light scraping of cells from your mouth with a small plastic spatula or spoon, it should not hurt. We will lightly scrap the inside of you mouth three or four times. It should not take very long to do this test. Is this okay?"
